200 times shimmering finish The brake is one of the most important elements on a bicycle. From the robustness of the cable to the careful workmanship, everything has to be just right. The CONTEC "Stop" cable end ferrule is the perfect finish for any high-quality brake system. A small part with a big effect: the end sleeve provides a professional finish to any brake assembly. It has a diameter of 5mm and is suitable for brake cable casings of different bike types: from MTBs and touring bikes to sporty city models. Once fitted, the ferrule is an end piece that protects against both injury and wear. The "Stop" cable end ferrule from CONTEC comes in a practical bottle containing 200 pieces. It offers frequent riders an economical supply as well as cyclists who are often out and about in a group and attach importance to having a replacement for the final finishing touch on the brake cable to hand when out and about. "Stop" from CONTEC is the silver-colored ferrules for the shimmering finish on the brake cable.
